

“During the Hot topic table RESECO led, we could focus on two tools created to raise awareness on SPP. The biggest challenge for public entities to scale up sustainable procurement is embarking all stakeholder. So thanks “the flower of the sustainable purchase “,technical department, procurement service, other staff members and even elective representative are invited to reflect all together about the issues of their purchase to better draw up their specifications, and tenders document. With the second tool presented : “the sustainable purchase Collage”, after having working on the impacts as well, they can go through the whole purchase process and better understand the priorities, the strategic points....

The audience seemed to be very interested in these tools, took some pictures and discuss on the difficulties they are facing. We hope that these two presented tools will inspire them to find their own ways to boost the commitment in their entities. “
